

I used Notebook LLM to analyze the lecture video, then I asked it to make slides of important topics in the given videos, slides were a bit longer and then I asked it to summarize it and gave my context of what I want from those slides.

After Notebook LLM gave me slides I copied them and went to Gemini and asked it to create slides for me which it did.

Prompts which did not work for me were simple and general prompts, but when I added context to it and told it what was the reason behind my work it gave me my desired slides.
